Why it is Proposed to Restore the Bay Bidge Ferry Slip to Its Old Uses and How the Ferry Came to be Established. Alderman Parks of the Thirteenth Assembly district offered at yesterday's meeting of the Board a resolution calling on the Corporation Counsel to inform the Board by what authority the easterly slip of the Staten Island Ferry has been sublet for a ferry to Bay Riege. Alderman Nicholas T. Brown, who has already two resolutions relating to this subject pending before the Committee on Ferries and Fran-chises, promptly moved that Alderman Parks's resolution be sent to the same committee. which was done.

The resolution of Alderman Parks is said to have been the result of a misconception of the true state of affairs relating to the Staten Island and Bay Ridge Ferries and their use of the two slips at the foot of Whitehall street; that the easterly slip has not been sublet to the Bay Ridge Ferry, but that the Bay Ridge Ferry is operated by the Staten Island Ferry Company under a lease.

The resolution establishing a ferry "from the bulkhead at the foot of Whitehall street to Bay Ridge was adopted June 4, 1877, but the ferry was not operated or recognized in a sale of the lease by the Sinking Fund Commis-sioner until July, 1884, when it was included in the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company's lease, and that company was required to make round trip to and from Bay Ridge every week day. The resolution of the Board of Aldermen did not fix the slip at the foot of Whitehall street from which the Bay Ridge Ferry should run, and it might be as well located in the South or Hamilton Ferry alip as in those of the Staten Island Rapid Transit

As the Staten Island and Bay Ridge ferry leases both expire on May 1 next, it is desired that this matter be straightened out and arranged to suit the people who are most interthat this matter be straightened out and arranged to suit the people who are most interested in those ferry alits. Acting on the belief that the city's greatest interest is in the Staten Island Forry, and that tichmond county should have increased ferringe facilities. Alderman Brown, at a meeting of the Board held Feb. 7, offered resolutions relieving the Staten Island Ispid Transit Company of its Bay Hidge Ferry incubus, giving it both slips at Whitehall street for its Staten Island Dusiness, and rescinding the resolution of 1877 establishing a Bay Hidge ferry at that point.

These resolutions have caused a howl from Bay Hidge property owners and others and persons interested in the Sea Beach Railway, which has its terminal in Bay Ridge. This has crystallized into a protest against the Brown resolutions at a public hearing held by the Committee on Ferries and Franchises last Thursday. There has also been argument adduced on behalf of Staten Island's citizens, and still other arguments for both sides will be presented at an adjourned public hearing to be given by the committee in the Common Council chamber at 1 l'. M. to-morrow.

Staten Island's rights in the two ferry slips at the foot of Whitehall street have long been established. This is Richmond county's only communication with the rest of the State, the ferry over which its 09,000 inhabitants must travel and send their teams and freight to the city. There was a Staten Island ferry no operation from the point occupied by the present Bay Ridge Ferry slip as far back as 1767, as is shown by the Hatzen map on file in the Comptroller's office. Up to 1845 this ferry was continued. At that time the South Ferry was induced to take its present westernmost slip. Two slips were used, however, the other Staten Island ferry was resetablished in its old slip, and the following year the Board of Aldermen established it as an additional Staten Island ferry. Was resolution. This was the old North Shore Ferry, the Staten Island Rapid Transit Company running the other. In 1

The Bay Ridge Ferry, Staten Islanders say, has been practically nothing but a summer excursion route. For seven months in the year, when there were no excursionists, the average daily travel over this ferry is seventy persons. There is no ferry slip at Bay Ridge, and no accommodation for teams on the hoat. The reason so few persons take this route is said to be that it is much easier to proceed to New York by the Brooklyn Railroad and the bridge or upper fefries.

Over the Staten Island Ferry about 0,000,000 nassenger trips are made every year, and Over the Staten Island Ferry about 0,000,000 passenger trips are made every year, and when the excursionists are reckoned in the Bay Ridge Ferry receipts. It is found that the receipts from that line are only one-seventh of those of the Staten Island Ferry, where from 18,000 to 20,000 persons travel daily on the boats of the lingid Transit Company.

The plea of the Staten Islander is that he should not be routed out by the Bay Ridge people, who have plenty of ways to get to New York, from the one spot where he is permitted to land in New York city and where such permission has been accorded him for 140 years.

ELM STREET WIDENING.

Mayor Gilroy Meets the Objections of Op-

Mayor Gilroy received yesterday a committee of property owners who protested against the passage in its present form of the bill introduced in the Legislature by Assemblyman Webster, providing for the widening and extension of Elm street. Among the members of the Committee were Leo Schlessinger, Joseph Keppler, Col. S. Van Bensse'aer Cruger, J. S. Hawley, W. F. Christie, ex-Assemblyman Hayes, G. Siedenberg, and W. T. Van Zandt. Mr. Hayes said that the position of the objectors is one of positive and unbending opposition to the measure. He said that the taking of the land in ten days after the appointment of Commissioners was a taking of private property without due process of law.

private property without due process of law, and therefore unconstitutional.

"That is an argument to make to the Court," said the Mayor.

Then Mr. Hayes said, belligerently, that the opponents of the measure could defeat it, and proposed to do it.

This is certainly not the spirit which brought us together here," said Mayor Gifroy.

I certainly did not receive you to listen to threats, but to consider with you suggestions for the amendment of the proposed law so that your objections will be met and the city's interests will be at the same time preserved. I will say that it is the purpose of the bill to provide for the speedy opening of the street, and I am in favor of a general measure which will do away with the antiquated system which at present ties the hands and feet of the city whenever it endeavors to make such an improvement as this."

The Mayor said he was willing that the law should be amended in almost any way, so that the principle be preserved that the city should gain speedy possession of the land to be acquired. He said that it might be amended so that interest on the award for property taken might run from the date of the appointment of the Commissioners. A provision night be made preventing the city from taking the land for four months after the appointment of Commissioners. Amendments covering the interests of mortgagers and mortgages might be made. The Mayor suggested that the Committees a lawyers meat with the Corporation Counsel and agree on amendments. Meanwhile he would request Assembly man Webster to have the bill recommitted to the Committee on Cities in the Assembly. This was agreed to.

When the aix emiloyees tried to eject the infruderthey thought they had struck a whirlwind. Zenie fought like a buildog, and the foreman called the assistance of Policeman Mackin of the Sixty-seventh street station, who happened to be passing. It took the combined efforts of the seven men to bring the lunatic to the floor. When searched at the station house a gold watch and chain, several diamonds probably worth $500, and a bank hook of the Seamen's bank showing to his credit $581, were found in his pockets.

AWAITING MR. STEINWAY'S RECOVERY. Amended Rapid Transit Plans Prepared

The Rapid Transit Commission did not hold a regular meeting yesterday, because of the absence of Messra Steinway, who is ill, and Spencer and Starin, who are out of town. Commissioner Bushe and Lawyer Bowers said that the Commission had reached the point where they could do nothing until Mr. Steinand the proposed concessions are all ready to approval of Mr. Steinway. Mr. Steinway has with an attack of rheumatism. His condition is said to be very serious.

While no meeting was held yesterday, the two Commissioners present received soveral petitions, and it was a field day for letter writers. Hugh N. Camp presented a petition signed by 2,000 citizens, some of the most prominent of whom were George F. Baker, J. Edward Simmons, John A. Garland, Orlando B. Potter, D. C. FUTURE GIRL LAWYERS HONORED, Ejected Officers of New York University's Law Class of '94.

When the class of '04 of the law department of the New York University met some days ago to elect class officers, it showed its gallantry as well as its good sense by electing each of the three girl members of the class to an office. The three are Miss Florence H. Dangerfield of Auburn, N. Y., who was elected President of the class; Miss Lulu B. Richardson of Ohio, who was chosen Second Vice-President, and Miss Emma Vocs of this city, who got the office of Historian. All are among the best students of the class.

Miss Dangerfield is the first woman who has ever been honored by election to the Presidency of a class in New York University. She dency of a class in New York University. She is an attractive looking girl, with gray eyes, a pretty figure, and abundant light hair, and is the daughter of a weil-to-do inventor of Auburn. In no respect does she resemble the traditional "strong-minded" woman. After graduating at the Auburn High School, she took a two years' classical course in Cornell, but did not graduate owing to ill health. From there she came to this eity and studied privately for a time, after which she entered the law department of New York University.

Miss Dangerfield, being also a stenographer and typewriter, is private secretary to Chancelloy McCracken. Her election to the office of President, so her classmates declare, was a deserved tribute to her ability as well as to her popularity. popularity
Miss Voos, the class historian, won the es-say prize this year for the best essay on a legal subject.

FORGED TAX RECEIPTS.

A Brooklyn Lawyer and Notary Public the Alleged Swindler,

Max Erdtmann, a notary public and lawyer in Brooklyn, has been arrested on a charge of forging tax receipts. Mrs. Apple Koch of 1.126 Jefferson avenue, alleges that she gave him Jefferson avenue, alleges that she gave him $85.51 in September last to pay her taxes for $801, and that he gave her a receipt purporting to be signed by Tax Collector Alden S. Swan. Is was not until she went to pay her taxes for 1812 that she learned that she was still in arrears for 1841, and that the receipt was a forgery. Mrs. Margaret Morgan of 1.128 Jefferson avenue also complained that Erdimann had given her a forged receipt for her water tax. It is supposed that there are several other victims. The prisoner was formerly a cierk in the County Clerk's office.

For the Greater New York.

At the next meeting of the Queens county Supervisors, on Fob. 24, the subject of consolidation will be discussed. Supervisors Van Nostrand. Hegg. Smith, and Delehanty are sail in favor of uniting parts of the county with New York. Supervisor Steiner of Hicksville is radically opposed to the movement, and Supervisor Denion of North Heinystead is not in favor of the project because it will interfere with a scheme he has in course of development to make a separate State of Long Island.

THE BLINDFOLDED BRIDE.

A FOUNG ARMENIAN WIFE'S STORY OF

The Husband Her Family Had Procured for Her Was Described as Young and Handsome, but Turned Out Old and Ugly. The suit for the annulment of a marriage elebrated in Armenia under the customs of that country seven years ago came up before Justice Clement in the Brooklyn City Court resterday morning. The parties to the suit are Joseph Papazian, an elderly Armenian, and his wife May, a pretty, bright-eyed Ar-menian girl, 22 years old. Her maiden name was Saragavakin. She lived with her parents in the little town of Harpoot, in Armenia. At the age of fifteen, she says, her elder brother, who was a teacher at Diarbeaker, came to her one day and said he had got her a husband, Joseph Papazian, who was just the husband she would fancy. This was on Dec

It was decided that the marriage coremony should take place the following day. Her old father lay very sick at home and knew nothing father lay very sick at home and knew nothing whatever of the prospective bridegroom, and she, herself, had never heard of him before and had never seen him at all. All the negotiations were carried on by the eider brother. This young man told her what a fine husband he had found for her and of the gold pieces that the bridegroom was willing to pay the family for the pretiest girl in the village. She would be taken to a great city, where everything that moner could buy would be hers. Then he susgested that, to make her joy more complete, she should not see the bridegroom until after the ceremony had been performed. She at first objected, saying she wanted to see her future husband at the sitar, but she was sinally persuaded, she says, into obering her brother's wishes.

When the hour for the ceremony arrived the bride was clothed in the flowing bridai robes of the country, and, in addition to this, abandage was ted over her eyes. Thus the silver bridai vell was thrown over br head, and she was led to the altar by her brother. The bride was led to the altar by her brother. The bride was led to the altar by her brother. Mrs. Papazian, whom probably no one would recognize as the pretty, rosy-checked, Armonian girl of soven years ago, told the Country esterday what happened after she was led away from the aliar.

"After the ceremony," she said, "I was led away from the aliar.

"After the and a strength of my husband, who took me in charge and led me into a croom, where the bandage was removed from my eyes. Sitting at one side of the room I saw and locked the door, I sat up a way.

"In December, 1880, we came to this country. Aiter I had learned the language a little, and found out that women have greater freedom than in Armenia, I ran away. That was in August, 1891. Since then I have been living with friends whatever of the prospective bridegroom, and she, herself, had never heard of him before and had never seen him at all. All the negotiations

SONS OF THE REVOLUTION.

A meeting of the national Board of Managers of the Sons of the American Revolution has been called by Gen. Horace Porter, their ference committee. To-morrow forencon the national Conventions of the two societies will be held in separate rooms of the Chamber of Commorce. There is a probability that the Revolutionary war, societies were formed in different States, compased of those whose ancestors fought in the levolutionary war. The objects were historical and ceremonial, chiefly, Both Northern and Southern men, especially in the original thirteen States, and men of all parties joined in the movement. In 1889 there was a split. The large and influential New York society ought to dominate the whole movement. Little was aimed at except to make sure of the eligibility of members; yet the position faken by the New Yorkers was dictasteful to State pride in other States. Two years ago the New York society voluntarily abandoned its claim to exercise authority over the other States.

The two conventions will, unitedly, number possibly 150 men. Gen. S. B. Buckner and Gen. Bradley T. Johnson, two lighting Generals of the Confederacy, and several other Southern men will be in attendance. Fx-Gov. John Lee Carroll of Maryland and Gen. iorace Porter are respectively the Presidents of the two national societies, and both will attend.

His Troubles Begun with His Infatuation with Widow Corr.

Thomas L. Maxwell, who was dismissed from the Brooklyn police last week, has become insane, and has been placed in the Flatbush asylum. He was employed as a tele-phone operator in the Adams street station One morning he jumped up from his desk, and, putting on his hat, walked off without a and, putting on his hat, walked off without a word of explanation. The Sergeant followed him to the street, but could not induce him to the street, but could not induce him to return. When called for trial before Commissioner Hayden he falled to appear, and was dismissed. A few days ago Maxwell caused the arrest of Kate Corr, the widow of another Brooklyn policeman, accusing her of having robbed him of a $100 diamond pin, but he would not press the complaint and she was discharged. On Monday he terrorized all the other inmates of his house at 47 Little street, and the doctors advised his removal to an asylum. He was a model officer before he became infatuated with the widow Corr.

NEW YORK PEOPLE LITERALLY HUS-TLED OUT OF EXISTENCE.

Rumbling Trains, Crowded Cars, Confused Streets, Bustle, and Excitement are Wearing Out the City People,

Din and crush, and hurry and noise and bustle. Every man, woman, and child in New York is subject to these things. If you rian upon the elevated road you are pushed, hustled, crowded, perhaps obliged to stand up, subject to noise, jar, and general inconvenience. If you so upon the streets you hear a constant din and racket, the rumbling of wheels, and more or less confusion.

Does any conscientious man or woman mean to say that these things do not affect the life; that they do not draw lines upon the face, scatter gray hairs upon the head, weaken the nerve power, the vitality, and shorten life? They certainly do, and what is more, they wear people out unless they are counteracted by the greatest care, occasional rests, and the use of the very best, most advanced, most scientific discoveries which modern invention by the greatest care, occasional rests, and the use of the very best, most advanced, most scientific discoveries which modern invention can produce.

It is a significant thing that a great need always brings about a great help to meet that need; but for the strains of modern civilization it requires something more than ordinary, and a discovery founded on the highest scientific principles. Such a discovery has been made, and the marvellous manner in which it operates can be learned from the following voluntary proofs taken from the actual liver and experiences of some New York people.

Mr. Charles L. Vosburgh. 220 West leith st., said: "Few men have suffered as I have. During the past five years life has had but little charm for me owing to the condition of my health. I realized the condition I was in. sought medical aid, and was told that complete rest was the only cure. I had a family and must work. A dear friend told me of a discovery and I tried it. doubtful at first, but as I found its effects beneficial I used it constantly, believing I had found a cure, and so it proved. That discovery was Paine's celery compound. Within six months I regained my former health, and have been well ever since."

Mr. E. M. Jenkins, tourist agency, 257 Broadway, said: "Paine's celery compound in a remedy which procures such effective results that I would not be without a bottle of it in the house at all times, and I always recommend it to my friends."

Rev. Dr. Dr. De Costa, 132 West 12th st., said: "My wife and I have had occasion recently to use Paine's celery compound and I have no hesitancy in saying that I believe it to be a most excellent remedy for any one troubled with nervousness, or suffering from overwork."

The grove statements speak for themselves, and prove the superior surpassing value of overwork."

His Death Regarded as Suspicious,

Thomas Mulcahey, 50 years old, of 108 Greenwich street, was found dead in the hallway of 22 Albany street early yesterday morning. The police regard his death as suspicious. The police regard his death as suspicious. Mulcahey's body was discovered by Thomas Mulholland. Mulcahey was a track walker on the elevated road and got his week's wages on Monday. The last person known to have seen him alive was his brother John. How he came to be in the hallway of 22 Albany street is not known. Charles Johnson and his wife kent a disorderly house at 22 Albany street until they were raided, several weeks ago. Mrs. Johnson is in the Tombs, but her husband still lives in the house.
